

Seeing a Cub Scout with lots of badges on their uniform and commenting "Wow, you've got a lot of badges"

Oh, I see you've completed your Milestone 3 – "What was one of your leads and how did that challenge you?"

Having a conversation with a youth member about their past 12 months in Scouting

Giving Outdoor Adventure Skills Stage 4 Camping to everyone in the Unit after a camp without any Review>

Building the Unit program around Special Interest Areas and Outdoor Adventure Skills every week.

Running a badgework night.

Telling everyone in the Unit that they should be working towards their peak award.

Having everyone progress through their Milestones.

---

Getting to the end of the program cycle and handing out Milestones.

Presenting a Special Interest Area and focusing comments on how much hard work it was and how many hours they spent on doing it.

Presenting an Outdoor Adventure Skill and asking the Venturer Scout to share what the most exciting aspect of the project was.

Presenting a Special Interest Area and asking the Cub Scout to share one of the goals that didn't turn out the way they expected.

Commenting on the Australian Scout Award being an individual Scout's biggest achievement.

Celebrating a Scout tying their shoelaces for the first time